

Your clients are insured, right?

Your clients routinely insure against potential adverse events. Yet their chance of requiring some type of long-term care is much greater.

Tell them about the risks:

Odds of having a car accident^{1,2}

Odds of having a residential fire^{3,4}

Odds of being admitted to a critical care unit^{4,5}

Odds of needing long-term care⁶

Why would someone ignore the greatest risk of all?

Help your clients protect themselves against the risks of long-term care expenses — the same way they already protect themselves against other risks.
